The EVAN Foundation

Evan's Victory Against Neuroblastoma Foundation is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization dedicated to curing neuroblastoma. Established in 2011, the Foundation supports the most promising research aimed at bringing desperately needed new treatments into the clinic NOW. The EVAN Foundation also supports patient-wellness programs aimed at brightening the days of children enduring long and difficult stays in the hospital. Every Wednesday, Evan's parents, Gavin and Wendy Lindberg, visit each child who is inpatient on the hematology/oncology floor at Children's National Medical Center in Washington, D.C. with carts filled with toys and candy. Each child gets to pick what they want, free of charge. All proceeds from the tournament will support our mission.

Who was Evan?

Evan was a sweet and happy three year old. He was strong, imaginative and active with limitless potential. One day in September of 2006, he complained that his leg hurt. Within two weeks he needed help getting up off the floor after playing. Soon after, he was diagnosed with stage 4, high-risk neuroblastoma. He fought through many surgeries, chemotherapy, radiation, immunotherapy and various clinical trials. Cancer in no way defined Evan. Any chance he got, he was playing, asking questions and laughing. Despite his heroic efforts, Evan lost his battle after four years and one month of fighting. It is in his memory that we seek victory against neuroblastoma.

Facts about Neuroblastoma

- Neuroblastoma is a solid tumor of the sympathetic nervous system
- Usually strikes children under five years old
- Approximately 700 new cases are diagnosed every year in the U.S.
- Approximately 350 of new cases are stage 4, high-risk.
- There is less than a 30% survival rate for children diagnosed with stage 4, high-risk neuroblastoma.
- There are no FDA approved therapies for neuroblastoma.
